Dear Students,

January 1st 2008

On behalf of Harlem Children Society (HCS) it gives me great pleasure to invite you to participate in the 2008 New York City Junior Science and Humanities Symposium (JSHS). HCS will be sponsoring and hosting this major event in close association and collaboration with the Academy of Applied Sciences.

We would like to commend you for your interest in science. Our hope is that your participation in the JSHS competition helps to foster this interest.

Information regarding JSHS can be found on the HCS website (www.HarlemChildrenSociety.org) under JSHS. You should be able to submit your paper, by initially signing up for Moodle – the directions for this is on the HCS website under the JSHS link. However, you will need a password to set up this free account.

For most of you this will be your first time using Moodle. The directions are easy to follow. Please read all the instruction before starting. Your principal, Science Assistant principal and Science Teacher have been given the password for signing on, you need this before you may begin.

Please read all the rules and regulation before beginning the process of submitting your paper. If you need help determine what category your project should be entered into, please see your science teacher. You must complete the entire registration application to be eligible. This application can be found on the HCS website under JSHS. Please download this and email it to HCS by the noted deadline date. Please pay close attention to the deadlines posted – since exceptions will not be made for any late papers. PLEASE REGULARLY CHECK THE JSHS PAGE ON HCS WEBSITE AND THE “MOODLE” FOR PERIODIC UPDATES AND IMPORTANT INFORMATION (we recommend at least once a week).

If you have any questions, please send an email to JSHS@harlemchildrensociety.org your questions will be answered with utmost importance. Please include the following when sending an email: your name, school's name, and science teacher's name.

The Junior Science and Humanities Symposia (JSHS) is a Prestigious Program, which promotes original research and experimentation in the sciences, engineering, and mathematics at the high school level (Grades 9-12) and publicly recognizes students for outstanding achievement. By connecting talented students, their teachers, and research professionals at affiliated symposia and by rewarding research excellence, JSHS aims to widen the pool of trained talent prepared to conduct research and development vital to our nation.

The top FIVE awardees will be invited to attend the National Science and Humanity competition in Orlando Florida, and the top TWO will be asked to present their research. In addition to being recognized, the top students in each category will receive the following monetary awards: 1st place $2000, 2nd place $1,500, and 3rd place $1,000. Competitive sessions will be conducted at National where finalists will be selected for significant awards, including undergraduate scholarships, and participation in the London International Youth Science Forum, July 26 - August 9, 2008 at London University in the U.K.

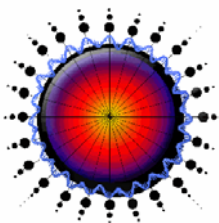

HCS provides an extremely high end, one-on-one, hands-on Scientific Research in Bio/Medicine, Engineering, Technology & Allied fields with leading scientists, engineers and doctors in reputed institutions and universities in the country for under-resourced and under-served youth during the summer and after school intensive programs. Among other services are workshops, lectures and seminars with some of the best internationally acclaimed scientists, engineers and doctors including Nobel Laureates and leading figures. They qualify for College, University and School Credits including a handsome stipend/ scholarship. Among other services include SAT preparations, math and computer instructions, preparation for College/ University, opportunity to present research at various local, regional, national and international Research conferences and Symposia, site visits to leading laboratories, pharmaceutical companies and other research institutions. These services will help the development of leadership, social networking abilities and creative talent, including a good parental and community involvement. Similar services are available for teachers with the possibility of earning “G” credits, professional development and memberships for leading research
